SCALE EXAMPLE

Here are some words and phrases which we would like you to use to describe how you feel about your present life.

For example if you feel your life is extremely exciting you would tick this box on the right (point to box)

If you think your life is extremely dull you would tick this box on the left (point to box)

If you think your life is fairly exciting you would tick this box here (point to box)

If you think your life is fairly dull you would tick this box here (point to box)

If you think your life is neither dull nor interesting you would tick the box in the middle (point to box)

Remember, the nearer the box you tick is to the end of the line, the more you think each phrase or word applies to your present life.

Now I would like you to complete this page putting a tick on each line Remember to read both sides before ticking. You are thinking about your PRESENT LIFE.

A The ages of the adults over 16 (VAR723 to VAR737) have not been grouped in the system file, they appear as the actual two-digit age. There is a derived variable, AGEGROUP, where the age of the respondent has been grouped, but the ages of the other members of the household will have to be regrouped before using in cross-tabulation.

CLASSIFICATION

Can you tell me about the people living in this household (I don't mean people who cater for themselves separately)?
